National Data Surveys

Art House Convergence 2020, Midway, Utah
7th Year of the National Audience Study
45 Theaters and Film Organizations
16,900 Theater Patrons
Representing 39 States and Provinces
45 Theaters and Film Organizations simultaneously fielded the survey with common questions and customized language

- Email invitations
- Social media posts
- Local press releases
- Etc.

TODAY:
Report of overall findings and implications

- Trends
- Story lines
- Key takeaways

Each participating organization will receive a customized individual report showing theater-specific findings and how these compare to overall Art House Convergence averages, along with patron comments and requests.
We will also share some results today of an operations study completed by SMU DataArts and Art House Convergence with funding provided by an NEA Artworks Research grant. 167 cinemas, film festivals and other film organizations ranging in size provided financial and operational data for this study.

Full study results (e.g. financials, salaries) can be found at arthouseconvergence.org.

Art House Convergence 2020, Midway, Utah
Introducing...The Patron Conversion Funnel

- Patron Conversion Funnel is a framework for understanding our mix of patrons and supporters.
- Ideally we move patrons from being unaware that we exist at all to become regular attendees and then members and contributors.

Conversion From Unaware to Loyal Donor

Conversion rates (from each level to the next):
- Aware: 50%
- Purchased Ticket (Last Year): 50%
- Frequent Attendee: 25%

Step 1: Load “The Top of the Funnel”

- An analysis of past studies conducted by Avenue ISR with community owned theaters show that art house theaters tend to be relatively well known (80%) by adults in their market areas.
- Roughly 20% of a national panel of U.S. residents report watching a movie at “an independent movie theater - often locally-owned, often a stand-alone theater” in the past year; there is an opportunity for more!

Questions: Which movie have you seen at [SPONSORING ORGANIZATION] in the past year that was most entertaining/enjoyable? AND Which movie have you seen at [SPONSORING ORGANIZATION] in the past year that made you appreciate [SPONSORING ORGANIZATION] the most?
In addition to specific titles, particular programs and events can be motivating ways to draw in new patrons.

Programs that feature unique film content, enhanced experiences and/or specific topics of interest can win new audiences.

Recent Attendee: 3 Years of Less Seeing Movies at SPONSORING ORGANIZATION

- Yes 28%

Reasons to Begin Attending SPONSORING ORGANIZATION

Question: How long have you been attending movies at [SPONSORING ORGANIZATION]?

Question: What caused you to first attend a movie at [SPONSORING ORGANIZATION]? (select all that apply)
First time attendees are sometimes drawn in because of educational content and deeper investigations of directors, genres and themes.

- Tailored to the community, these special film events, series and even festivals can both deepen engagement and win new attendees

- Seminar: The Color of Horror (Belcourt) A brief tour of some of Dario Argento’s greatest works, inviting a lively and diverse discussion of the visionary, problematic and jaw-dropping excesses in one of cinematic history’s unique genre film voices. www.belcourt.org

- Summer of Bond (Gateway Film Center) One-of-a-kind maverick movie experience: For the very first time anywhere, GFC will present all 26 theatrical Bond films – including the two non-canon, non-Eon Productions films – chronologically, in one sexy series. www.gatewayfilmcenter.org

- Artist Spotlight: Oliver Assayas (AFS Cinema) A retrospective of his films. French director Olivier Assayas is the voice of a generation. His brilliant body of work addresses our rapidly globalizing and increasingly technological environments, and interrogates the meaning of art and artistic creation in our finite existence. www.austinfilm.org
First time attendees sometimes respond to “enhanced experiences” that bundle film, refreshments and socializing.

- These events create gateway experiences that allow passionate patrons to bring in friends and family

- Movie Bingo (Tampa Theatre) A pre-film happy hour and some fun, film-themed Bingo games. With encyclopedic knowledge of movies (and a little bit of luck), you could win Krispy Kreme doughnut vouchers...and other great prizes!
  www.tampatheatre.org

- Heels and Reels (Robinson Film Center) Monthly dinner-and-a-movie series for women presents a popular movie and offers an elegant buffet dinner with a cash bar. The evening also features trivia and prize giveaways.
  www.robinsonfilmcenter.org

- Music Box of Horrors (Music Box Theatre) annual 24-hour frightfest of the most terrifying, pulse-pounding movies you’ll ever see. Vendors and Food Trucks www.musicboxtheatre.com
First time attendees may also respond when art houses participate in and lead important community conversations.

- When coupled with intentional community conversations, co-sponsorship/co-creation with community leaders and mindful outreach, these events broaden the audience while fulfilling a critical community role.

  Black Lens Program (Oriental Theatre) spotlight the work of African-American filmmakers by bringing their films to the MFF. These filmmakers explore stories and topics that are rooted in the Black community but are relevant to a variety of audiences. Black Lens features fiction and documentary films from emerging and established voices and hosts events that inspire conversation, celebration, and community.

  www.mkefilm.org

- Out Here (The Nickelodeon) a community-curated and monthly LGBTQ series screening films of all genres.

  www.nickelodeon.org

- ACT Human Rights Film Festival (The Lyric (Fort Collins, CO) Based out of Colorado State University, ACT Human Rights Film Festival screens artistically excellent films from around the world and fosters conversations about social justice and human rights.

Although there is no singular missing perspective, many patrons (about 1 in 4) wish their art house theater could share more diverse perspectives.

- These perspectives and voices range from global to local and communities that are often under-represented in art house cinemas.

Question: Are there perspectives and voices you wish were represented in the films and programs presented at [SPONSORING ORGANIZATION]?

In order to continue to cultivate support, art houses need to fill the “top of the funnel” with new audiences and patrons.

Art houses appear to be effective at refreshing audiences – 28% of survey respondents are relatively recent attendees (within the past 3 years).

To broaden beyond current audiences (which skew older and whiter), art houses should take a portfolio approach to programming in order to include titles that will appeal to different groups.

In addition, programs and events based around film, food, and important community conversations can build new bridges and win new fans.

II. Deepening Engagement
III. Membership and Financial Support
IV. Community Impact
Step 2: Deepen Engagement to Increase Frequency

- Of survey respondents who saw even one film at the sponsoring art house in the prior year, 39% are frequent attendees who attend once a month or more.

The art house community appears to be effective at winning over younger audiences.

These results are even more dramatic this year than in years prior.

Question: How long have you been attending movies at [SPONSORING ORGANIZATION]?
In addition, millennials are the most likely to report watching more movies in movie theaters than 2 years prior.

- More than a third (38%) report watching more movies in recent years

Movie Watching Compared to 2 Years Prior: Generational Breakdown

- All Respondents: 25% Watching More, 58% About the Same, 17% Watching Less
- Millennials (Age 23 to 38): 38% Watching More, 46% About the Same, 17% Watching Less
- Generation X (Age 39 to 54): 25% Watching More, 57% About the Same, 19% Watching Less
- Baby Boomers (Age 55 to 73): 23% Watching More, 62% About the Same, 15% Watching Less
- Silent Generation (Age 74 to 93): 19% Watching More, 64% About the Same, 17% Watching Less

Question: Compared to two years ago, would you say you are watching more movies in movie theaters compared to other formats and venues?
The average number of movies that Millennials report seeing at the sponsoring art houses are consistent with other generations.

- So Millennial patrons, once won over, can be very good patrons indeed

Question: How often do you typically see movies at [SPONSORING ORGANIZATION]? How often do you typically see movies at each of the following locations?
However, the competitive environment for movie watching tends to be dominated by home viewing.

- Just about one out of every six movies that art house patrons see is at their primary art house
- 68.9% of movies they see are at home or on a personal device

Annual Movie Viewership, By Location/Format

- At SPONSORING ORGANIZATION: 15.8%
- At all other theaters: 15.4%
- At home or on a personal device: 68.9%

Question: How often do you typically see full length feature movies at [SPONSORING ORGANIZATION] compared to other places and formats?
Although all generations are attending a relatively similar number of movies at art houses, the ‘wallet share’ is lower among younger generations.

Patrons of all ages watch more movies at home than in theaters.

Frequency of Movie Watching by Location

Question: How often do you typically see movies at [SPONSORING ORGANIZATION]? How often do you typically see movies at each of the following locations?
An increasing number of art house patrons are watching new releases that are only released through streaming services.

The proportion of respondents who have watched movies released directly through streaming sites has increased by 22 percentage points since 2017.

Question: In the past 3 months have you watched one or more full length feature movies that were released directly through a streaming site (e.g. Netflix) with no theatrical release?

70% report watching one or more full length feature movies that were released directly through a streaming site with no theatrical release.
Subscription to streaming services is widespread across generations for these art house patrons.

- Even among the oldest patrons, use of streaming services is widespread
- Patrons tend to use main-stream services, though some use specialty sites

Question: To which, if any, of the following streaming services do you subscribe?
How can art houses compete?

By offering superior curation, an immersive and superior patron experience, and genuine connection to community, art houses offer much more

Curation
- “Enjoy seeing the types of films I like without going to a multiplex.” (The Plaza Cinema & Media Arts Center)
- “All films make me appreciate PC Film!” (Park City Film Series)
- “Amazing diversity of films.” (Gene Siskel Film Center)
- “All movies that I see at Tryon Theater make me love the theater!” (Tryon Theater)
- “Excellently curated current and old movies.” (Jacob Burns Film Center)

The Patron Experience
- “A great venue, unique setting and atmosphere” (Rodeo Cinema)
- “Member benefits-discounts, emails about coming attractions, popcorn” (The Grand Cinema)
- “Ambiance, big screen, beautiful historic bldg, Brewers yeast for popcorn” (Oriental Theatre)
- “Affiliation, great programming, real butter and wine” (SIFF Cinema)

Connection to Community
- “Community of like minded film nerds. People respect the movie going experience.” (Brattle Theater)
- “All of the movie programs (Heels and Reels, Date Night, Rewind)” (Robinson Film Center)
- “As a nonprofit theater, FilmScene is supported, run, attended, and all-around loved by the community. The works they bring are bar-none the best in the state and they strive for accessibility, equality, diversity, and honesty in their programming.” (FilmScene)
MARKETING EXPENSES

- Are film organizations spending enough on marketing to promote themselves to patrons and the community?
- Cinemas and other film organizations spend less as a percent of overall expenses compared to comparable Performing Arts organizations.

Marketing Expenses as % of Total Expenses is calculated by dividing total marketing expenses by total expenses. It is a helpful ratio to use to determine how much is being spent on marketing relative to other expenses.

Marketing Expenses as Percent of Total Expenses – By Organization Type

Marketing Expenses as Percent of Expenses – By Budget Size
As we’ve seen in recent years, although many communications media can reach all generations, some are more specific to particular age groups.

- Email, reviews, trailers in theaters and word of mouth tend to cut across all groups

Ways of Learning About Movies 2019 (by Generation)

Question: How do you typically learn about which movies you might be interested in seeing away from home (in theaters, at festivals, etc.)? (select all that apply)
Some specific sites and outlets continue to inform movie-going choices.

Question: Please provide a bit more detail for the following. Which sites, publications and/or social media do you use to learn about movies?
The importance of social media posts from theaters continues to rise, but still is less widely informative than email.

Posters and printed materials remain relatively important as well.

Select Communications Vehicles – Finding Out About Movies

- Emails or enewsletters from theaters: 59%
- Internet browsing in general: 32%
- Social media posts from theaters: 27%
- Theater/Festival/Organization websites
- Posters & Printed Materials

Question: How do you typically learn about which movies you might be interested in seeing away from home (in theaters, at festivals, etc.)? (select all that apply)
Participation in Instagram continues to climb.

- Facebook remains the most widely used social media at 70%
- Instagram usage has risen from 13 percentage points in the last 2 years

Social Media Usage Trends: 2016-19

Question: To which, if any, social media sites have you subscribed? (select all that apply)
After the wane of MoviePass, movie subscription participation has stayed relatively low, but participants report a good experience.

- Overall ratings of positive experiences have bounced back
- Interest in these programs remains relatively stable at 38% using/interested

- “Honestly, the seats are old and uncomfortable for me (sadly too narrow for my older frame)”
- “The temperature can either be too hot or too cold.”
- “I have a disability. Very little info on the website as to how a disabled person would navigate the space.”

Website Content or Organization
- “Website and online box office experience are outdated and cumbersome.”
- “The website is difficult to navigate on mobile”
- “The website could stand to showcase more of what’s playing on the homepage (with images).”

Social Media Presence
- “Better presence on Instagram - more frequent posts, with richer content”
- “Social media giveaways, questions, etc to spark more engagement”
- “[Social media] advertising is the key so we do loose this lost art!”
There are a number of changes to programming and outreach that could cause current attendees to attend more often.

- Some of these may be “aspirational” – respondents aspire to be the kind of person who would enjoy these – but others may drive additional attendance.

Cinemas, film festivals and other film organizations are relatively efficient with fundraising compared to performing arts organizations.

Fundraising Efficiency calculates the average dollar amount of contributions raised from each dollar spent on fundraising.

For findings related to funding by source for organizations of different budget size, visit SMU DataArts’ Fundraising Report: http://smu.edu/fundraisingreport
For the 47% of these patrons who have made the membership decision, the decision is balanced by support of the mission and more transactional benefits.

Connecting members with community impact while delivering tangible benefits is needed to sustain and expand membership.

Question: In the past two years, have you provided financial support to [SPONSORING ORGANIZATION], aside from purchasing tickets to see movies there or purchasing a basic level of membership?

Question: How likely would you be to make a financial contribution, if asked?
• Cinemas, film festivals and other film organizations rely extensively on the help of volunteers to complete their work.
Patrons give art houses credit for incredible personal value and transformation.

They agree that art house theaters make their lives enjoyable, spark their curiosity, open up new worlds and more.

Comparisons to performing arts organizations indicate there may be opportunities to build membership revenue along with individual and board donations.

Cinema organizations tend to be efficient in terms of fundraising, generally earning more than $7 for every $1 invested.

Finding opportunities to broaden contributions can be as simple as asking.
There are many opportunities to build more audience and support, but two points of focus are first time purchase and converting members to contributors.

- Broadly speaking, community outreach designed to bring more first-time viewers (including from new and diverse communities) into the organization and approaches to broaden the pool of financial contributors could both yield important bottom line results while strengthening mission.
